

Scholarship Application Form

AccessEd Foundation empowers low-income families in the East Bay to access community resources. We do this through pro bono educational consulting, targeted referrals to high-quality network providers, and need-based financial aid.

How can I afford the cost of tutoring for my child?

Tutoring is expensive, even when a provider offers a sliding scale. AccessEd never funds 100% of tuition costs; rather, we consider a student's real needs and make up the difference between what the tuition would cost at the lowest end of the provider's sliding scale and what is actually feasible for a family.

AccessEd Scholarship = Cost of Tutoring – Family Contribution

For example, your student needs two hours of math tutoring per week, at $150 per week or $600 per month (cost of tutoring). You can afford $200 per month (family contribution), AccessEd will supplement the $400 difference (scholarship).

We will determine a family contribution that works for you during our intake meeting. If you decide to accept a scholarship, you will be required to document your income information with basic tax and wage/salary paperwork.

What are the steps between application and start of service?

1. Family applies for a scholarship (you are here)
 2. Intake meeting with student and family
 3. Family submits financial docs
 4. Family signs scholarship agreement and completes enrollment packet
 5. AccessEd refers a service provider to the family
- The family then contacts the provider and agrees on service for the student.
